

Publish to every platform with ease and stability

Finally, a modern editorial print production system!

Now there is a real alternative for all your editorial system needs, so you can finally kiss those bloated, legacy print production systems goodbye!

newsroomQ is so flexible, it can work with any recent version of Quark or InDesign. It can be configured to operate in the cloud or on a local server. Or both.

How does newsroomQ work? Instead of trying to manage or manipulate Quark or InDesign, newsroomQ integrates seamlessly with those proven platforms and workflows, supplementing them with all the critical features those systems don't do well — integrating with third party systems, adding meta data and additional photos, video or files for the web, tracking production workflows and keeping a log of changes and updates.

It's web-first oriented, allowing you to reverse publish user-contributed content or publish staff content to the web at any point in the production process.

With Creative Circle, upgrades are free and we even provide consulting support and unlimited training. No extra charge.

Among its many features are a deep and rich image and content archive, a photo assignment module and wire service feed management.

newsroomQ is stable, proven, easy to learn and efficient to run. That means you will save time and money every time you use it.

Paired with our web platforms, you'll also get the industry's first user-contributed content tools and the best pay-wall available, along with some great revenue producing platforms, some not available from any other vendor.

mediasiteQ, our web CMS, is the most flexible and content-oriented in the industry. Our editorial package will position you to get the most of your editorial content: Dynamic. Engaging. Sticky. User friendly.
